[Alternative Space]
Refers to an art space that is neither a museum nor a commercial gallery. Mainly used for experimental exhibitions and activities, this new type of venue emerged in Europe and the United States in the 1960s and '70s, and in Japan in the '80s. Beginning with the Sasebo Exhibition Space ('83-2000), founded by Koike Kazuko, the examples in Tokyo included Spiral ('85-), operated by Wacoal, the Heinenken Village Space ('89-91), with its beer bar, and the P3 Hall at Tocho-ji Temple in Totsuga ('99-99). In addition, the ICA, Magoya ('86-92), KPO Krim Art Plaza ('97-2008), and Mitsubishi Jisho Artium in Fukuoka ('99-21), opened succession to new art throughout the country.
